PART 4 – RULES OF PROCEDURE

- (b) a summary of any proceedings not open to the public where the minutes open to inspection would not provide a reasonably fair and coherent record;

The Information Commissioner’s Office has published guidance in connection with the Freedom of Information Act which may be useful in undertaking that test (Freedom of Information Act Awareness Guidance No. 3 The Public Interest Test). Basically, something is considered to be in the public interest if it serves the interests of the public. Examples of the types of factors that would encourage disclosure are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • furthering the understanding and participation of the public debate of issues of the day; • promoting accountability and transparency of public authorities for their decisions; • promoting accountability and transparency in the spending of public money; • allowing individuals and companies to understand decisions made by public authorities that affect their lives and, in some cases, assisting individuals in challenging such decisions; and • bringing to light information affecting public health and safety. The main factors against disclosure of information are those set out in exemptions (1) to (7) themselves such as the need to maintain and not prejudice law enforcement matters. If disclosure of information would adversely affect these matters, then it is relevant to consider the possible adverse effect of disclosure against the positive benefits of openness. Consideration of the European Convention on Human Rights may also lead to a conclusion that information should not be disclosed because it might prejudice the right to a fair hearing.

11. EXCLUSION OF ACCESS BY THE PUBLIC TO REPORTS

- 11.1 If the Proper Officer thinks fit, the Council may exclude access by the public to reports which in his opinion relate to items for which, the meeting is likely not to be open to the public.
