8. CONSULTATION AND REPRESENTATIONS RECEIVED

8.4 Representations received from Interested Parties

8.4.2 Four letters of support have been received. The planning reasons are summarised in the table below:

Supporting Comment	Officer Response
The building already has planning permission	As set out in the Committee Report the building does not have planning permission because it has been erected as a dwelling.
The Applicants make apple juice and cider and the orchard is getting bigger	As set out in the Committee Report, use is not a determinative factor in this case. Furthermore, these comments do not provide any evidence that these activities occur within the building or what purposes the building was constructed for.

The Applicants want to expand to a bigger building and this application will enable that	The Applicant's desires are not a reason for granting planning permission. Enabling development is not a consideration outside of applications that would enable to restoration of Listed Buildings.
The heating of the building was agreed by building control before the work started	Building Control and Planning do not consider the same matters. Something being acceptable to Building Control has no bearing on its acceptability in terms of Planning.
Supporters have picked fruit at the Orchard, helped prep fruit and have consumed produce from the site.	As above, use is not a determinative factor in this case. This does not provide any explicit evidence as to what occurs in the building or how/what purpose it was constructed for.
The removal of internal walls impacts on the temperature control within the building and therefore impacts on food production and fruit storage	These matters are discussed at section 6.1.6 of the original report and sections 2.6 and 5.2 of Appendix 1 appended to the Committee Report.
The building is not fit for purpose and it would be better moving to the bigger building	This is addressed at paragraph 2.5 of the Committee Report and paragraph 5.2 of Appendix 1, appended to the Committee Report.
Moulds were brought along to a harvest to make sweets.	Paragraph 8.3 of Appendix 1 to the Officers Report acknowledges the presence of moulds.
Support the transfer operations to the bigger barn under construction	The Stables and storage building approved under application 18/00839/FUL was not under construction during a recent site visit. As set out above this is also addressed at paragraph 2.5 of the Committee Report and paragraph 5.2 of Appendix 1, appended to the Committee Report.
As someone who runs a café they cannot fathom how the Council can require the removal of the kitchen which will result in a failure to meet hygiene standards.	The extent of the kitchen was over an above that which would be required for an Agricultural storage building. The proposal is not for a café, it is a store.

It is also pertinent to note that the two letters of representation that highlight that help has been given at harvest, hygiene standards require the kitchen, that the existing building is not fit for purpose and that the building has always been used as its intended purpose are from people located in Edinburgh and the Isle of Skye. Therefore, doubt is cast over whether these contributors could have full knowledge of the use of the building since its construction and whether it is fit for its purpose.

8.4.3 One letter making comment on the application has been provided. The comment has been summarised in the table below:

Comment	Officer Response
The Applicant's Barrister has said there is nothing in the planning consent that prohibits the use of plaster board and insultation	The building being considered a dwelling is a result of all the cumulative residential fixtures and fittings as well as the internal subdivision of the wall. The use of residential insulation and high quality plaster finish to the interior walls is a factor that contributes to the Officer findings.
The Applicant's medical circumstances require the building to have temperature control and should be fully insulated.	Medical circumstances are not a material planning consideration in this instance. It would also not be expected for the entire building to be to a residential standard as apples are generally stored at lower temperatures as set out in paragraph 6.1.6 of the Officers Report. Further, stable/store building that is said to be a better fit for purpose is unlikely to provide this level of insulation, particularly as it doubles up as a stable block.
